We reported in this column Aug. 8 that the trash and garbage pile on the road from Rocky Mount to State 4 had been removed and, as an unconfirmed guess, we wrote that credit for the cleanup probably was due the county judge.

County Judge Finis Odum telephoned our office this morning and said our guess was correct.

That's a good public performance, judge; now the question is, how can we best persuade citizens from breaking the law which forbids dumping on public roads?

The City of Hope has a nominal charge for non-city dwellers using the municipal dump grounds. Obviously some persons are dodging this charge and polluting the countryside. It would be a progressive step if the county could strike a deal with the City of Hope to share the maintenance cost of the municipal dump grounds and make it available gratis to rural residents.

Your editor and Circulation Manager C. M. (Pod) Rogers, Jr., were in Little Rock Thursday night and Friday for an Arkansas Press Association committee meeting.

On the way home Friday afternoon we noted an army of crows along the right-of-way of Interstate 30. They were picking up bits of gravel from the highway shoulders.

Like many birds, crows need stone bits to serve as grinders for food in their craws. Farmers will not relish the fact that in building highways we have inadvertently aided the arch enemy of the cornfield.

The phenomenon of crow-crowded highways is seen everywhere. The greatest display appears on Florida coastal roads. However, the crows turn out there in early morning rather than afternoon. Heading down the Tamiami Trail one morning at 6 o'clock with my late brother-in-law, F. M. Gibson, bound for Key West, I noted thousands of crows picking up bits of shell from the shoulders. Also some buzzards.

Crows have a communal organization, but the buzzards are loners. Crows post a lookout (as every farmer knows), and when a car approaches the whole flock wheels off into the air and returns to the roadway at once. Buzzards, with no lookout, wait until the last minute and just miss your windshield as they take off. The thought of a filthy buzzard crashing into your lap is enough to slow down any driver.

Robbery reported at Emmet

The Help-ur-Self Service Station on U.S. Highway 67 in Emmet was reported robbed about 4 p.m. Saturday, according to the State Police.

A man, age about 23, entered the station and pulled a knife on the attendant, Phillip McAdams, demanding money. About $1,000 was taken, it was reported.

The suspect was last seen driving west on 67 toward Hope. An investigation into the incident is continuing.

Suspect in stabbing death held; shooting is reported

Johnny Owens of Hope was stabbed to death Saturday and a suspect is in custody in the Hempstead County Jail, according to Sheriff Henry Sinyard.

Owens, 29, was stabbed twice—once in the chest and once under the left arm—following a fight at a private residence at 613 North Laurel St. Owens was pronounced dead on arrival at the Hempstead County Hospital.

Being held in connection with the slaying is Earlie Martin, 44, of Emmet. Sinyard confiscated a pocket knife with a three-inch blade following the incident; he said the investigation is continuing.

Joe Lee Hopson of Hope is in an undetermined condition in a Little Rock hospital following a shooting early Sunday morning at the Pink Elephant Cafe near Blevins, Sinyard said.

A suspect in the shooting, Larry McFadden, 20, is being held in the county jail.

According to Sinyard, five shots from a .22 calibre pistol were fired about 12:30 a.m. during an argument, and one struck Hopson in the chest. He was transferred to the Nevada County Hospital, then moved to the Little Rock hospital.

Hopson is in an undetermined condition, but a hospital spokesman said surgery is scheduled for Wednesday to remove the bullet.

Administration is pledged to negotiated VN peace

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers pledged the administration today to strive for a negotiated Vietnam settlement instead of the "immediate and complete withdrawal" promised by the Democrats.

Addressing the opening hearing of the Platform Committee of the Republican National Convention, Rogers lauded the peace moves made by President Nixon and said:

"As our military involvement (in Vietnam) ends we will continue to provide economic support and military supplies to South Vietnam to prevent a military takeover by North Vietnam."

"Thus the political future of Vietnam will be left to the Vietnamese themselves to be determined by the political process."

By implication Rogers rejected the proposal of the Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. George McGovern, to withdraw two American divisions from Europe. He said the United States will seek early negotiations with the European allies for "mutual and balanced force reductions on both sides."

Then, with obvious reference to McGovern's plan, he told the platform drafters:

"To avoid compromising our chances for success in such negotiations, we will resist premature pressures for withdrawal of American troops alone."

As leadoff witness for the administration at the four-day hearings of the 108-member GOP platform body, Rogers took pains to challenge the Democratic platform's charge that, whereas the President took office claiming to have a secret plan for peace in Vietnam, "Nixon's plan is still secret."

Rogers also said that if the United States ignored a North Vietnamese peace signal four years ago "it was President Johnson who missed the boat, not President Nixon."

As Democratic vice-presidential nominee Sargent Shriver opened a continent-spanning campaign trip still insisting that Nixon lost "a very golden

Secret VN session is underway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential adviser Henry Kissinger is conducting another secret Vietnam negotiating session in Paris today with North Vietnamese officials, the White House said.

The meeting, 18th in a series of secret sessions Kissinger has conducted with Communist negotiators, is the third secret session in the past six weeks.

White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler made the brief announcement, saying the President's assistant for national security affairs was meeting today with Hanoi politburo member Le Duc Tho.

opportunity" for peace, Nixon's secretary of State talked with reporters in Miami Beach, Fla.

Rogers quoted W. Averell Harriman, chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks under Johnson, as saying the signal came in October or perhaps early November 1968.

"That would mean the Democratic administration had three months to act on the supposed signal before President Nixon took office," Rogers told reporters.

"What did they do about it? I've been making a search of all papers and documents available, and I find no trace of any such signal."

"This thing has taken on an Alice-in-Wonderland coloration. President Johnson was president then, and we cannot find that he passed on any reference to such a signal."

"If someone missed a signal, it was President Johnson who missed the boat, not President Nixon."

Rogers said that Harriman, Shriver and Cyrus R. Vance, Harriman's deputy negotiator at Paris, would have had responsibility in the matter if the signal came at the time mentioned by Harriman.

Democratic Committee meeting set

The Hempstead County Democratic Central Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the City Hall to elect delegates and alternates to attend the Biennial Democratic Convention in Little Rock.

The convention is scheduled for Sept. 8-9 in Little Rock.

Any committeeman wishing to be a delegate or alternate to the convention has been requested to contact E.C. White, committee secretary, preceding the meeting Tuesday.

Bombing halt is requirement to POWs' release, Clark says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark says North Vietnamese leaders have assured him that American prisoners of war will be released "when we stop this senseless bombing and get on with the business of peace."

Clark did not elaborate fully but did say he would speak in more detail at a news conference today.

Speaking briefly to newsmen Sunday night after his arrival here from Honolulu following a two-week tour of North Vietnam, Clark said the assurances were "both written and verbal" and that among those who gave him the pledges about the prisoners was the North Vietnamese foreign minister with whom he had a nearly three-hour conference.

"There is no question that the POWs will be released when we stop this senseless bombing and get on with the business of peace," said Clark, who served in the administration of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The North Vietnamese have demanded a halt to bombing, withdrawal of American troops and other conditions as a prelude to ending the war.

Clark said the POWs he visited during his tour was one of two reasons it was hard for him to return to the United States.

"It's good to be home, as it usually is," he said, "but it's harder than usual for two reasons."

"As an American it doesn't make me feel good to see the inhumane waste in Vietnam," He said he had seen churches, dikes, schools, and villages destroyed by U.S. bombing.

U.S. officials have denied that American warplanes have deliberately bombed North Vietnamese dikes or any other nonmilitary target.

And, he added, it was difficult "to leave the prisoners there — strong, good men who want to come home." He said the treatment of POWs he saw was "very humane and very good under the circumstances."

World powers warned not to forget UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In his first broad policy statement since becoming secretary-general of the United Nations, Kurt Waldheim warns the big powers against trying to run the world without the world organization and asserts his own responsibility to speak out on life-or-death issues.

The 53-year-old Austrian, in office since Jan. 1, took his stand in the introduction to his first annual report on the work of the organization, issued by U.N. headquarters Sunday while Waldheim was visiting China.

It amounted to the secretary general's position toward President Nixon's talks in Peking and Moscow and to Nixon's recent blast at him for saying he had unofficial word from Hanoi that U.S. bombing had damaged North Vietnamese dikes and threatened "enormous human suffering."

"No matter what criticisms or setbacks may arise," Waldheim declared, "the unwritten moral responsibility which every secretary-general bears does not allow him to turn a blind eye when innocent civilian lives are placed in jeopardy on a large scale."

He said "new and positive relationship" of the big powers is encouraging because it affords the possibility that at last the U.N. Security Council will work with unanimity.

But he cautioned: "The idea of maintaining peace and security in the world through a concert of great powers ... would seem to belong to the 19th rather than to the 20th Century, where the process of technological advance and democratization is producing a new form of world society."

"The interests, the wisdom and the importance of the vast majority of medium and smaller powers cannot, at this point in history, be ignored in any durable system of world order."

"The United Nations provides, or should provide, the means by which all nations, great and small, participate on a basis of sovereign equality in the political process of establishing and maintaining international peace and security."

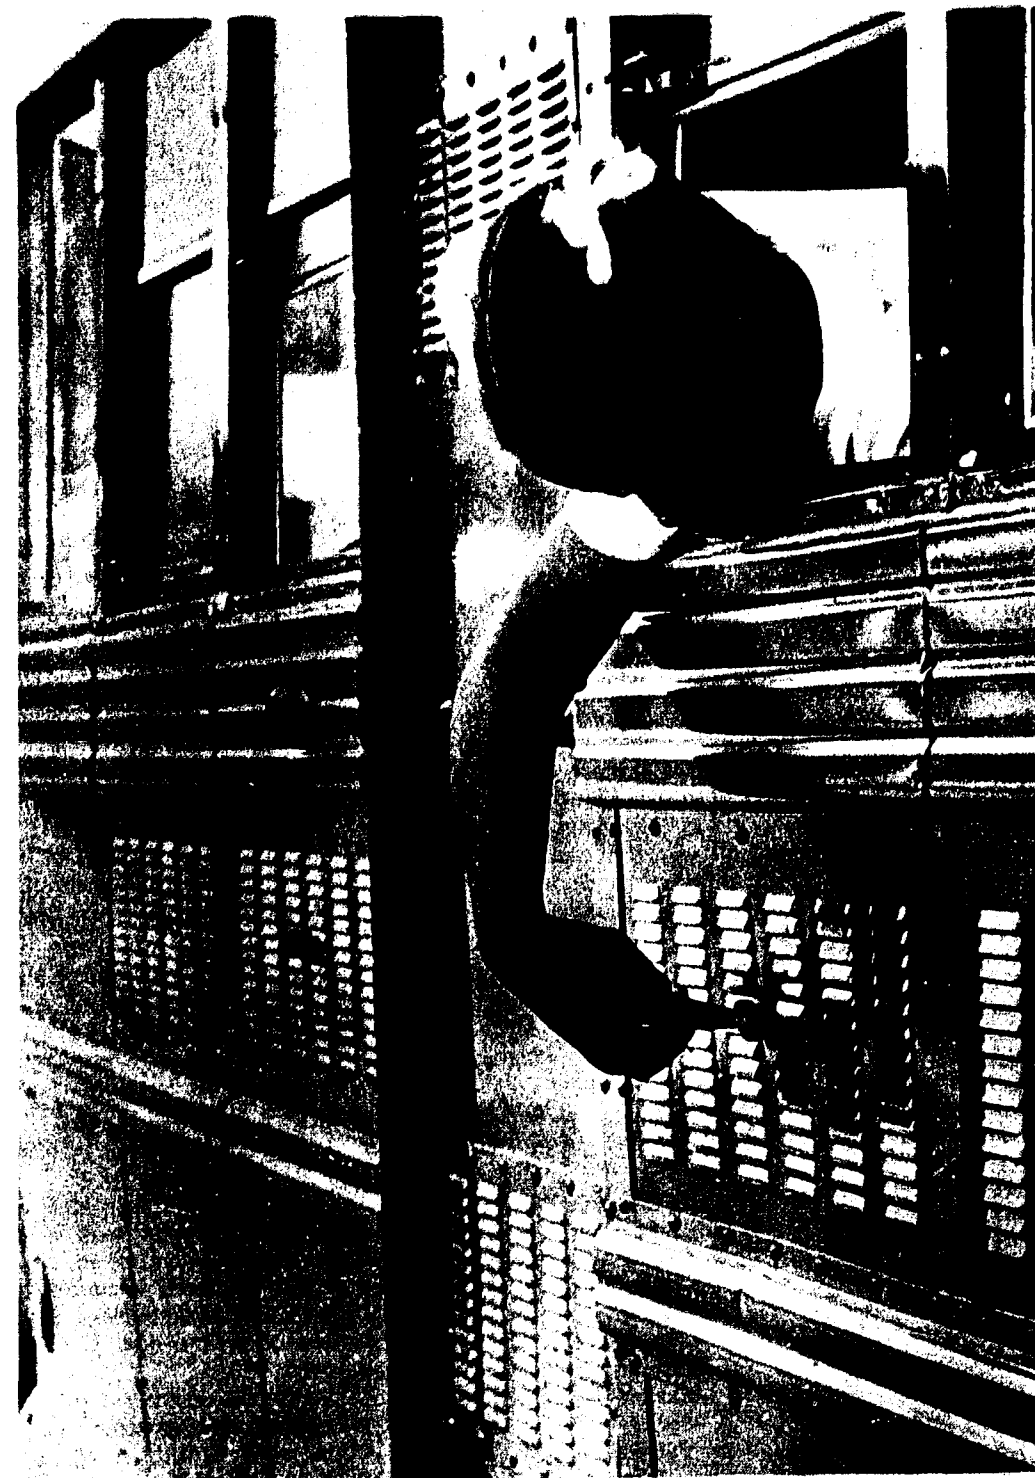

Waldheim deplored tendencies to downgrade the United Nations and "to deride the organization as such for its failure immediately to succeed where everyone else has failed."

He applauded the entry of the People's Republic of China into the United Nations but complained of "a certain unwillingness to involve the United Nations in the reconciliation of some conflicts," even with the Security Council now "more representative of the power realities in the world."

In that connection, he repeated his offer of last April to help settle the war in Vietnam and his statement of deep concern the month after that the United Nations could do nothing to end that war.

He reported "encouraging developments" between India and Pakistan and promising intercommunal talks in Cyprus.

The long wait

Ten-year-old Kathy Hill, one of the 11 students of the Hempstead County Mental Retardation Center to attend a week-long camp for the retarded this week, found waiting on the bus Sunday a little tiresome, so she found a source of entertainment outside the bus. The 11 students will spend this week at Camp Parran near Little Rock, returning Saturday. Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hill of Hope.

Time limitations ran out on $1.5 million robbery

BOSTON (AP) — The 10-year Massachusetts statute of limitations ran out today on the $1.5-million Plymouth mail robbery, the slick holdup of a mail truck loaded with money bags.

Authorities say not one cent of the huge cash haul, all in bills, has ever been found.

Reaching the end of the statute of limitations means no one may be prosecuted in the case, but authorities said the search for the money will continue.

It also means that $200,000 in reward money put up jointly by the U.S. Post Office and the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston for information leading to the conviction of the robbers will remain uncollected.

Three persons were indicted on federal charges in the case. One disappeared before he could stand trial. The two others were acquitted by a federal jury.

The Aug. 14, 1962 holdup began at about 8:30 p.m. as a panel truck, heading from Hyannis to the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston, drove north on Route 3, passing through the outskirts of Plymouth.

At a point where a hilly dividing strip blocked the scene from the south-bound lane of the four-lane highway, two cars parked sideways blocked the truck's progress.

Two men, one dressed as a policeman and the other in civilian clothes, overpowered the driver, William Barrett of Mansfield, and the armed guard, Patrick Schena.

The two mail employees were bound and put in the back of the truck with the money bags, and the holdup men drove the truck off.

Finally, the two holdup men, abandoned the truck in Randolph, about 60 miles from the robbery scene.

In 1967, two of the three persons indicted in the case were brought to trial in federal court in Boston.

It took the jury one hour's deliberation to acquit John J. Kelly of Watertown and blonde, beautiful Patricia Diaferio of Boston.

The third person indicted, Thomas R. Richards of Weymouth, disappeared five days before his trial began and has not been found.

Mr. Wells urges everyone to make every effort to attend each session.

VN unit bombed

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers today attacked units of a fresh North Vietnamese division apparently trying to cross the demilitarized zone to reinforce the Quang Tri Front. Far to the south, Saigon forces fanned out in an effort to ward off an assault on South Vietnam's southwestern borders.

Heavy fighting was reported in both areas, and the Saigon command claimed 113 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed. It announced 28 South Vietnamese troops killed and 71 wounded.

About 30 B52 bombers hit inside the DMZ and just above it, releasing 750 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese troops and supply stockpiles, U.S. sources said.

The Saigon command reported 61 North Vietnamese were killed Sunday in a series of fights from the edges of Quang Tri City to the western and southern flanks of Hue. South Vietnamese losses were put at 11 men killed and 43 wounded.

On the southern front, about 20 U.S. B52s struck at enemy troop concentrations between Saigon and the Cambodian border and also to the north and northwest of the South Vietnamese capital.

In Cambodia, 50 miles west of Saigon, South Vietnamese forces clashed in a day-long battle with the enemy near Kompong Rau.

A communique said 52 of the enemy were killed and two prisoners captured, while South Vietnamese losses were 14 men killed and 28 wounded.

Viet Cong terrorists also kept up their attacks to undermine the Saigon government's hold on the provinces.

USSR to let Jews emigrate

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Soviet leaders promised President Nixon during his visit to Moscow in May that they will let 35,000 Jews emigrate to Israel each year, says Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Unofficial sources in Moscow reported in March that the Kremlin planned to let 30,000 Jews go to Israel this year, so the agreement which Rockefeller said Nixon obtained presumably represents an increase of 5,000.

In Washington at the White House, deputy press secretary Neal Ball said, "I know of no such agreement," but declined further comment.

Winding up a four-day visit to Israel, Rockefeller told a news conference Sunday the issue of Soviet Jews was "high on the President's agenda" for the May summit. The governor said the President and Presidential Adviser Henry Kissinger told him about the agreement by the Kremlin's leaders to increase the emigration.

Three Vietnamese were killed and 20 were wounded in a grenade attack on a militia office in Qui Nhon, on the central coast.

Between 2,000 and 10,000 tons of ammunition were destroyed in a sapper attack on the ammunition depot at Long Binh, 12 miles northeast of Saigon, the South Vietnamese said.

A series of explosions also ripped through two ammunition dumps outside Pleiku in the central highlands, but the cause was not immediately known, the Saigon Command said.

In the air war against North Vietnam, pilots from the carrier Saratoga reported that they attacked barracks and storage buildings Sunday at the Hoi Doi military complex 20 miles southwest of Haiphong, but smoke and darkness prevented them from making an accurate assessment of damage.

The U.S. Command also announced revised Vietnamese casualty figures for the crash Saturday of an Air Force C130 transport in the Mekong Delta. It said more than 24 Vietnamese were killed, instead of seven as announced earlier. The American casualty figures—six killed and five injured—remained unchanged.

Defense plank eyed at party hearings

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Support for a strong national defense plank rejecting Democratic proposals to slash the Pentagon budget and pull two divisions out of Europe was expected to emerge at Republican platform hearings opening today.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers was the Platform Committee's featured witness, and Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, GOP national chairman, planned to greet the committee.

Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, GOP platform chairman, told reporters Sunday that the budget cutting plank of Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern is "an isolationist document" that would leave Israel in peril and endanger American interests in other troubled areas.

The defense and foreign policy plank of the GOP platform will be made public next Friday if the committee keeps to its schedule, Rhodes said, and other sections will be released on Saturday and Sunday.

The Republican National Convention opens next Monday and the completed platform will be presented to the convention Tuesday.

Approval was expected to be virtually automatic, Rhodes told a news conference on the eve of the four-day platform hearings that a 98-page working draft of the platform, which had been reviewed and revised

Unsafe products still in homes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two years after a national panel sounded an alarm, Congress is still looking for the best way to help rescue millions of Americans endangered by unsafe consumer products in their homes and schools.

While the concept of new federal protection for consumers is winning increasing support on Capitol Hill in light of a 1970 report by the congressionally created National Commission on Product Safety, a dispute continues over major organizational aspects.

Experts estimate 20 million Americans a year are injured by products in or around their homes and schools, with 30,000 deaths and 110,000 persons being permanently disabled. The annual cost to the economy is figured at more than $5 billion.

"Despite the public's widely held assumption that the federal government exercises broad authority in the interest of their safety," says Rep. Harley O. Staggers, chairman of the House Commerce Committee, "existing federal authority to curb hazards in a majority of consumer products is virtually nonexistent."

The national commission reported that in agencies which have some powers now, regulation is "burdened by unnecessary procedural obstacles, circumscribed investigative powers, inadequate and ill-fitting sanctions, bureaucratic lassitude, timid administration, bargain-basement budgets, distorted priorities and misdirected technical resources."

Thus, the Staggers committee has responded with a bill, due to reach the House for action soon, creating a new independent regulatory commission with broad power to prevent or reduce, product-related deaths and injuries. This would include setting mandatory safety standards and banning products from the marketplace.

But the Nixon administration is pressing for its own bill, vesting product-safety authority under the Food and Drug Administration within the Health, Education and Welfare Department. The President's proposal was turned down by the Staggers committee, but Republicans plan a floor fight on the issue.

The 1970 study commission's report recommended the independent-regulatory-agency approach, and the Staggers committee agreed. Such an agency, Staggers said, would do the job "with the cold neutrality that the public has a right to expect."

Willie J. Harwell of Saratoga died in a local hospital late Friday at the age of 68.

He is survived by his wife Ellaree; two sons, Charles of Kansas City, and Gary of Saratoga; two sisters, Mrs. Alma Odum of Pulaski, Tenn. and Mrs. Edna Watkins of Ardmore, Tenn.; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Saratoga Church of Christ. The Rev. Alvin Rainey officiated. Burial was in Saratoga Cemetery under the direction Herndon Funeral Home of Hope.

Mrs. Dorothy Thompson Boyett, 73, died unexpectedly while visiting in Hope on Saturday, August 12.

Survivors are her husband, Ruffin A. Boyett of Little Rock; one son, David, of Austin, Tex.; one daughter, Mrs. Frank Howson, Jr. of Dallas; one sister, Mrs. Barney Brown of Little Rock; and 7 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday, August 14 at 10 a.m. in FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (AP) — An investigation is expected to be completed this week into the death of a 17-year-old Army recruit and the hospitalization of 14 other soldiers in connection with a forced training march Aug. 2.

Pvt. Steven P. Gasser of Madison, Wis., collapsed and was taken to the base hospital, where he died two days later. The cause of death was heat stroke, officials said.

Seven who fell out of the march formation were treated and dismissed. Others remained for longer treatment.

The talks have been scheduled for Sept. 25-27 by William Whitelaw, the British administrator for Northern Ireland. Whitelaw has asked the moderate Social Democratic and Labor Party, Northern Ireland's only legal pro-Catholic party, to represent the Catholics.

Leaders of the party said they have received warnings that the IRA might try to kill them and blame the slayings on Protestant extremists, hoping to fan the flames of sectarian bitterness.

Coaching staff is Rotary Club guests

Hope High School head football coach Gaylord Solomon gave an over-all look at the athletic program at Hope High and Yenger Junior High for the coming year when he spoke at the Hope Rotary Club's luncheon meeting Friday at the Town and Country.

"Our goal is to win as many games as possible, and while we may have a few tricks up our sleeves, our (football) game will be based principally on fundamentals. Between 40 and 50 boys at senior high are planning to go out for football with the first practice to be held Monday, August 14. So far, the personnel is divided this way: 12 seniors, 11 juniors and 20 sophomores. There will probably be some additional players later."

The Bobcat schedule has the first game set for Hammons Stadium Friday, September 1, against Ashdown. A few changes have been made with Arkadelphia and Stamps on this year's schedule, while Sheridan has been dropped. The 1972 season will have four home games and six out-of-town games, but next year the games will be evenly balanced.

Rotarian Jack Beatty presented Coach Solomon who, in turn, introduced his staff: Wesley Huddleston, Stan Parris, Billy Barnes, Lyle Jones, Harold Alexander and Ed White. Jones, Alexander and White were not present.

President Bob Roberts welcomed the coaching staff and two other guests, Linda Wray and Kathy Sinyard. Rotary Chaplain Vernon Wickliffe offered a prayer for two hospitalized members of the club, Jim Cole and Terry Becherer.

Mines kill two soldiers in Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — Land mines believed set by the Irish Republican Army killed two British soldiers today a few hours after the army reported a "dramatic reduction" in terrorist violence since the troops seized control of the IRA's strongholds two weeks ago.

The two soldiers were on foot patrol in the Roman Catholic Andersonstown district of Belfast when a trip wire set off the mines. Their deaths brought the total of confirmed deaths to 508 in three years of religious strife in Northern Ireland; 68 of the dead this year have been British soldiers.

In its report earlier the army said "explosions were down to half and shooting incidents less than a quarter" in the two weeks since the troops opened up the Catholic districts in Belfast and Londonderry where the guerrillas had been in full control.

The troops have also uncovered scores of rifles and pistols, thousands of rounds of ammunition and more than 13,000 pounds of explosives.

The Army's increased mobility as a result of the operation resulted Sunday in the capture of another top commander of the Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing in Belfast.

Soldiers caught prison escapee Terence Clarke, 21, who broke out of the capital's Crumlin Road jail last year in a mass escape by IRA suspects.

Despite the reduction in IRA operations, security forces fear a new bomb blitz because of a conference scheduled next month on Northern Ireland's future. Political sources believe the IRA may unleash a new bombing campaign in an attempt either to blast its way to the conference table or to prevent the meeting taking place.

The talks have been scheduled for Sept. 25-27 by William Whitelaw, the British administrator for Northern Ireland. Whitelaw has asked the moderate Social Democratic and Labor Party, Northern Ireland's only legal pro-Catholic party, to represent the Catholics.

Leaders of the party said they have received warnings that the IRA might try to kill them and blame the slayings on Protestant extremists, hoping to fan the flames of sectarian bitterness.

1 envelope (1 1/2 ounces) spaghetti sauce mix
4 carrots, cut into 1 1/2-inch pieces
4 medium onions, sliced
1 can (1 pound) whole potatoes, drained
In a large saucepan brown lamb in oil. Add beer, water and contents of envelope of sauce mix. Simmer, covered, for 1 hour. Add carrots and onion; cook 20 to 30 minutes more, until meat and vegetables are tender. Add potatoes, cook 10 minutes to heat. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

We offer our most grateful and heartfelt appreciation for each expression of sympathy in the recent death of our Loved one. Except for the sustaining grace of God and the love and loyalty of friends and loved ones our grief would be more than we could bear. May God Bless You.

Mr. Scruggs and bride to live in Little Rock

Miss Marjorie Elizabeth Royston and Joe Bartie Scruggs III of Little Rock were united in marriage at seven o'clock in the evening Saturday, August 12, in the First Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Grandison Delaney Royston Jr. and Dr. and Mrs. Joe Bartie Scruggs Jr. of Little Rock.

The Rev. Jerre Hassell, Arkansas Baptist Medical Center Chaplain, assisted by the Rev. Gerald W. Trussell, performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Peter Musgrave of Batesville, vocalist; Hall Critz of Wichita Falls, Texas, guitarist; and Luther Holloman, organist, presented wedding music.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a formal gown of candlelight silkened organza designed by Priscilla of Boston. It was styled with a Duchess neckline and long tapered sleeves ending in scallops. Bows with entwined pearls marked the wrists. Medallions of candlelight re-embroidered Alencon lace ornamented the bodice and sleeves. The lace reappeared in a wide border that formed the scalloped hemline. Her Watteau train, flowed to chapel length. Her mantilla of silk illusion, attached to an oval-shaped head-dress, was ornamented and edged with matching Alencon lace and embellished with pearls. It fell to cover her train. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of pink Sweetheart roses, miniature orchid carnations, white roses, fleur d'amour, and baby's breath attached to a small book of Psalms. She carried a Brussels lace handkerchief and followed the tradition of "Something old, something new..."

Mrs. Barry W. Wilson of Killeen, Texas, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Scruggs of Little Rock, the groom's sister; Mrs. Bruce N. Munson of Abilene, Texas; Miss Jan Retherford, Miss Anne Coppenger, and Mrs. Grandison D. Royston IV, the bride's sister-in-law, of Arkadelphia. Their identical gowns of lilac voile over taffeta had a Victorian silhouette, a wedding ring neckline, full Bishop sleeves, and a softly gathered skirt. The neckline, cuffs, and Bertha yoke were of Nottingham lace. Their matching picture hats were sheer Leings braid enhanced with lilac satin bows and streamers. They carried baskets of purple and orchid asters, miniature pink carnations, and baby's breath with matching streamers.

Little Miss Ashley Dean of West Memphis, the bride's cousin, was flower girl. Her dress was fashioned to match the bridesmaids', and she carried a basket with a nosegay of similar flowers.
Jan W. Scruggs of Little Rock was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Jim Roy Scruggs of Little Rock, the groom's brother; Grandison D. Royston IV of Arkadelphia, the bride's brother; Craig Johnson of Colorado Springs; Jan Walker of Murfreesboro, Tennessee; and Paul Holmes of Little Rock.

Seating the guests were Wayne Key of North Little Rock; Brad Baker and Leon Kumpke of Colorado Springs; and Jack Jagoditch of Nashville, Tennessee.
Vows were exchanged before a background of Southern Smilax and an ovoid arch with greenery and burning orchid tapers, and a prie dieu. The arch was flanked by seven-branched candelabra, fifteen-branched spiral candelabra, and floral baskets of orchid chrysanthemums and pom-poms.

The pews were marked with two-branched candelabra and orchid tapers with matching bows and greenery. William C. Nolen II of Little Rock, the bride's cousin, and Berris Samples of Fort Riley, Kansas, were candlelighters.
The mother of the bride wore a long dress of pale mint green chiffon over taffeta and a green cymbidium orchid in her hair. The mother of the groom wore a long dress of light blue crepe and a white cymbidium orchid corsage.

The grandmothers of the bride couple, Mrs. Grandison D. Royston Sr. of Little Rock and Mrs. Joe B. Scruggs Sr. of Benton, wore fleur d'amour corsages.
A reception at Hope Country Club followed the ceremony. Mrs. Joe R. Hankins and Mrs. A. L. Page greeted the guests in the Club's foyer, and Mrs. Cecil O'Steen presented them to the receiving line.

The bride's serving table was covered with a white satin cloth, draped with illusion, and caught by nosegays of pink carnations and miniature orchid asters. The centerpiece was of orchid and purple asters, pink carnations, orchid pom-poms, and Baby's breath in a silver epergne flanked by silver candelabra holding burning orchid tapers. The white four-tiered wedding cake, topped with fresh flowers, was served by Mrs. Gilbert O. Dean Jr. of West Memphis and Mrs. Keith R. Golden of Little Rock, the bride's cousins.

Fruit punch was served by Mrs. Ronald Ingram of Texarkana and Mrs. Gary Martin of Lufkin, Texas. They were assisted by Miss Beth Lawrence of West Monroe, Louisiana; and Miss Debbie Dumas, Miss Loretta Singleton, and Miss Susan Nash, of Little Rock.

The groom's table was covered with a brown linen cloth and held an arrangement of frosted grapes in a silver compote. A nosegay of yellow and bronze pompons decorated the groom's cake which was served by Mrs. Jan W. Scruggs of Little Rock, the groom's sister-in-law, assisted by Mrs. Brad Baker of Colorado Springs. Coffee was served by Mrs. John Walker of Murfreesboro, Tennessee, and Mrs. Jack Jagoditch of Nashville, Tennessee.
Miss LeElla Ratcliff of Little Rock presided at the guest book. The table was covered with net over taffeta and held a memory candle and the bride's bouquet.

Others assisting at the reception were Mrs. J. W. Franks, Mrs. George Wright Sr., Mrs. Ted Merryman, Mrs. Jim James, Miss Pattie Page, Miss Rita Taylor, and Miss Betsy Franks.

Also included were Mrs. Harold Stephens, Misses Debbie and Loren Stephens of Blevins; Miss Susan Shuffield, Miss Allison Ford, Miss Stacy Goodrich, and Miss Meredith Miller of Little Rock.
Rice bags and wedding scrolls were distributed to the guests by Misses Ashley Dean and Jill Garner, the bride's cousins, and Kim Connelly.
For travel Mrs. Scruggs chose a dress of red, white, and blue tie silk with navy accessories and wore a corsage of fleur d'amour.

After a wedding trip the couple will be at home at 524 Lee Street in Little Rock. Mr. Scruggs is Arkansas' Central Area Director for Young Life Campaign, and Mrs. Scruggs is employed at the Arkansas Baptist Medical Center.

Following rehearsal Friday night, August 11, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Scruggs Jr. of Little Rock entertained members of the Royston-Scruggs wedding party with a dinner at the Heritage House.
Orchid and purple asters, pink carnations, orchid pom-poms, baby's breath, and candles were used for decorations at the table where the thirty-four guests were seated.

The bride couple chose this time to present gifts to their attendants.

Oswald: "The jump to game is always a limit bid of some sort and on most occasions is also a call that is intended to stop the bidding then and there."

Jim: "If the partner of the man who jumps to game has already made a limit bid it is up to him to pass."

Oswald: "Today's hand shows what can happen when a player breaks this rule. I won't get into a discussion of whether or not North's holding warranted a jump to three spades, but the fact is that he bid only two spades and South expected that the bidding would end when he jumped to game."

Campaign plans are discussed

Homenade ice cream and cake was enjoyed by a group of local Republicans on the lawn of the Ed Aslins in Oakhaven Tuesday evening, August 8. It was the monthly meeting of the Republican Women's Club, and since fall campaign plans were to be formulated, the county committee was also invited.

After the pledge of allegiance, Mrs. Clarence Geist presided at the business meeting. Plans were discussed for subscribing to the Arkansas Outlook, the State Republican newspaper, to be sent to several county schools. The group also discussed plans to attend a campaign rally for Ed Bethune, candidate for Attorney General, to be held in Searcy on August 19.

Mrs. Jerri Pruden, local candidate for Representative, made several announcements and gave an up-to-date report on her campaign.

Haskell Jones, finance coordinator, then presented plans for the local committee which includes setting up a campaign headquarters in Hope for five weeks before the general election and finalized plans for at least two fund raising projects during the month of October.

Clarence Geist, Southwest Region chairman, announced a meeting of the district officers and county committees to be held in Hope on August 31. Charles Bernard, state chairman, will be present.

Oswald: "When South jumped to game, North reasoned that he might well have bid three spades instead of just two and decided to make a slam try. Once he moved past game he was stone cold dead."

Jim: "It was tough luck that North and South each held three clubs, but it was even tougher luck that they got into that never-never land between game and slam without the cards to warrant it."

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — "In some ways," a Houston writer observed, "Jim Carlen reminds one of the late Vince Lombardi, perhaps the greatest disciplinarian in football history. "You can't honestly knock his idealistic approach, and you have to admire his guts for speaking out."

Carlen, entering his third year as football coach at Texas Tech, has shown no reluctance to speak his mind. He is described variously as hard-nosed, idealistic, evangelistic, charismatic and naive.

But aside from a confrontation last year with Tech fans, his vigorous, personalized recruiting program coupled with a hard set of rules attracted the most attention.

Glory dream is gone, Nicklaus wins Classic

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — The glory dream of golf's Grand Slam is gone—at least for this season—but Jack Nicklaus is flirting now with a new goal: $300,000 in winnings for a single season.

"It would be great to win $300,000," Nicklaus said after pushing his winnings to $240,000 Sunday with his victory in the rich Westchester Golf Classic, "but I just don't know if I'll be able to play enough to do it."

"You always want to try to better yourself," said Nicklaus, who won a record $244,000 last year, "and I'd particularly like to do it this season for one reason: I feel that I'm a better golfer this year than I ever have been before in my life."

The record would back him up. In only 15 starts on the American tour this year—the Golden Bear has won five—the Masters, U.S. Open, Bing Crosby Pro-am and Doral-Eastern prior to the Westchester—lost in a playoff for the title in the Tournament of Champions, failed by a stroke in the Jackie Gleason and tied for second at New Orleans.

And, of course, he lost by a single stroke in the British Open.

He's averaging $16,028 per start in the United States.

His record of $244,000 seems certain to go. But $300,000 could be difficult.

"I'd have to win at least one more, maybe two, to do it," Nicklaus said. "I'd like to, but I really don't know if I'll play enough."

Nicklaus won the Westchester with almost casual ease, forging a beautifully-played four-under-par 68 in the final round on the Westchester Country Club course. The 18-under-par total of 270 was the best on the tour this season.

He was never headed in the hot and muggy final round and won by three strokes over Jim Colbert, who had a hole-in-one and an eagle three en route to a 65 and 273.

Dwight Nevil, the soft-spoken former Dallas fireman who was the surprise of the tournament, held on with a 71 and third place at 275. He later donated $2,000 from his purse of $17,750 to a Newburgh, N.Y., hospital.

Homero Blancas, with a 65, was alone at 276 with George Archer and DeWitt Weaver next at 277. Each had a final round 68.

Arnold Palmer, who scored his last individual triumph in this one year ago, didn't qualify for the final two rounds, British Open champ Lee Trevino didn't compete.

Aces win 4-1 over Memphis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pitcher Dave Friesleben became the Texas League's first 14-game winner this season as he hurled Alexandria to a 4-1 verdict over Memphis Sunday.

The victory padded the East Division lead of the Alexandria Aces to five games over the Memphis Blues, their closest pursuers. Run-scoring doubles by Mike Ivie, Duane Larson and Randy Elliott put the Aces safely ahead before Pep Anderson hit a solo homer for Memphis in the seventh inning.

Amarillo, now six games back of front-running El Paso in the West Division, closed the gap a bit by nipping the visiting Sun Dodgers 4-3 as Horace Speed belted a tie-breaking home run in the seventh frame.

Bills are working hard on defense

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Coach Lou Saban has only 14 players with more than four years' experience, 16 with two years' and a flock of rookies. Yet, he's determined to make the Buffalo Bills a National Football League winner this season.

"He can't do it," says one of his critics.

"Lou may not bat .500, but he's going to win five or six games and surprise some people," says a Saban fan.

Saban was a winner here once, when he coached the Bills in the American Football League from 1962 through 1965. He won two AFL titles, mainly with teams noted for their defense.

Right now, Saban in his second term as Buffalo's head coach, is working hard on defense. He's also building an offense around 1968 Heisman Trophy winner O.J. Simpson, Southern California's great running back.

After owner Ralph C. Wilson Jr. rehired Saban last January, Saban fired the Bills' assistant coaches and brought in six of his own.

There's Jim Dooley, former head coach of the Chicago Bears; Bob Shaw, ex-head coach of two Canadian Football League teams; Bill Atkins, once head coach at Troy State; Ed Cavanaugh, who held a similar job at Idaho State; Jim Ringo, former center for Green Bay and Philadelphia, and Stan

Jones, ex-guard and tackle with Chicago and Washington.

"Go to work. Get me a winning team," Saban told the six. Dooley, for example is working with the linebackers—veteran Mike Stratton, Robert James, John Pitts, Jackie Allen and Alvin Wyatt and a bunch of newcomers.

Ringo, the offensive line coach, is teaching the tricks of the trade end to J.D. Hill, tackle Donnie Green, guard Dick Cheek and center Bruce Jarvis, all two-year men. Tackle Paul Costa (8 years) and guard Irv Goode (11 years) also are going to school.

Goode, obtained from St. Louis in a trade for Joe O'Donnell, figures to be a key man in springing Simpson loose. Rookie guard Bobby Penchion of Alcorn A&M also is high on Saban's list.

Walt Patulski and Ed Swenson, both defensive ends from Notre Dame, are considered likely to see considerable action. Patulski is expected to get a starting job, while Swenson must oust three-year veteran Al Cowlings if he wants one.

One of the most notable differences in the Bills' training camp at Niagara University is the attitude of quarterback Dennis Shaw, NFL rookie-of-the-year in 1970 and a disappointment last season.

Shaw, hampered much of last year with a sore throwing hand, seemed unhappy with Buffalo's continuous losing and showed it. "He has a whole new attitude this year," says a Bills' spokesman. "He really wants to play. He's really tossing the ball."

Jim Harris, the first black quarterback to start a regular season pro game, was a reserve last year but managed to start two games. He's trying his best to be No. 1.

The change in the team's attitude was noted only recently by Simpson, as he signed a new contract paying much better than the $300,000 he is receiving under his current pact, now in its final year.

"Like everyone else on the team," Simpson said, "I'm thinking about helping make us a winner."

Baseball Tips

6—Playing First Base

(Sixth of 10 Parts.)

Hold your glove out toward the thrower before he releases the ball to give him a good target. Stretch out to the ball to cut down the time it takes to reach the glove.

Wait until you see what direction the throw will be going before you touch the bag with your foot. (Quickly feel with both feet to be sure you know exactly where the bag is before you throw.) If the throw goes to your right, then touch the base with your left foot. If the throw comes to your left, touch the base with your right foot. If the throw is right at you, touch the base with the foot opposite your glove hand. This takes practice, but it allows maximum stretch and gives you the best position to field balls thrown in the dirt.

If you can afford it, use a first baseman's glove. It will be somewhat more difficult to field with, but it will be a great advantage in receiving and holding onto hard throws from the infielders.

set in 1912 with the old New York Giants. "I want the win," Carlton said. "Those other things take care of themselves."

The Phils took care of him with a pair of first-inning runs, coming on Willie Montanez's double and Greg Luzinski's single. Carlton lost his no-hit and shutout bid in the fourth on Bob Bailey's home run.

Making man-made marble

By REBECCA LAZENBY
Of The Star Staff

Dale Jones' workshop in Emmet smells of resin and rock dust. They are the primary ingredients in cultured marble he makes.

Jones, a native of Nevada County, yielded to the urge to leave the big city and moved home to Emmet several months ago. "I always wanted to go into business for myself," he explained, "and I became interested in man-made marble through a guy I know. So I moved to Emmet, built myself a workshop, and here I am."

He now devotes full time to his small but growing business. "Cultured marble is becoming very popular in the home building industry and I get busier all the time," he said.

The items Jones makes includes vanity tops, table tops, and tub and shower enclosures, "but I could make just about anything anybody would want," he said.

The first step in making cultured marble is preparing the tables and molds for pouring. Jones applies several coats of wax to make the surface slick, and then sprays on Gelcoat, a substance used to give the marble a glossy finish.

Jones built his own table molds and some Fiberglass vanity molds, others he uses are produced by commercial suppliers. When the Gelcoat is dry, Jones begins mixing the marble.

Resin and rock dust are weighed and measured into a large pot. Then the mixing process begins. "Time is one of the most important things in making this stuff," Jones said as he worked. "Boy, when this stuff starts setting up I have to move in a hurry." A catalyst is added to the mixture in the last few minutes, starting the hardening action. Jones refers to it as the "hot stuff". Finally, color is stirred in by hand.

Jones uses his hands to spread and gently pat the uncured marble into place. When the marble hardens the mold is removed and the curing process begins. A fresh pour needs about 12 to 14 hours to cure, depending on the temperature, he said.

The cured marble is then lifted from the table and Jones begins waxing and preparing for another days work.

AHD refused to meet with union, spokesman said

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A spokesman for a union that is representing employees of the state Highway Department has said that highway commissioners have refused to meet with the union.

Ralph Miley Jr., international representative of the Labor International Union of North America, said about 1,300 of the department's 2,000 maintenance employees had joined Local 1315 of the organization.

Members of the local plan to hold a meeting Aug. 26 on the Highway Department parking lot in Little Rock. They have asked that highway commissioners and other officials meet with them.

Miley said the commission had refused to meet in the past with the labor representatives on advice of counsel that such meetings would violate state law against collective bargaining of state employees with unions.

Miley said he had tried without success to arrange a meeting with the commission and that the union now would have to resort to disclosures he thought would be an "embarrassment" to the state. He said some issues may be taken to court, if necessary.

The local was chartered Feb. 15. Membership is open to all department employees, but Miley said efforts had been concentrated on signing up maintenance employees. He said they are the department's lowest paid employees, averaging probably a little more than $2 an hour.

A labor union apparently cannot do much more than lobby the legislature about appropriations for wages and negotiate with the commission on the amount of its legislative requests for wages, but a spokesman contended there were a number of areas where working conditions for employees could be improved through grievance procedures.

Miley said that among matters the union seeks to discuss with the commission is an "unreasonable amount" of premium and administrative costs in the department's voluntary health insurance program.

He also said the union wants to discuss the department's allegedly requiring some employees to work at jobs other than those for which they have been classified by the legislature and the hiring of new employees at wages higher than those received by veteran employees.

Trestle destroyed by fire

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — Frisco Railroad construction crews began Sunday to reconstruct a burned trestle and to reconnect the railroad's main line to a bridge across the Mississippi River.

Fire destroyed the trestle and seven box cars Saturday evening. Authorities first thought the blaze was started by lightning, but later said they did not really know what triggered it.

The flames broke out about one mile west of the Memphis-Arkansas bridge.

Hampered by muddy fields, fire crews simply let the blaze burn itself out.

GOP is getting ready for 1976

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — With no presidential nomination fight this year but one possibly looming four years away, the Republican party today began examining proposed broadened rule changes for 1976.

A full day of hearings was scheduled by the Rules Committee of the Republican National Committee to hear testimony from more than 20 witnesses, most of whom are urging new approaches to expand the base of the party.

After receiving the Rules Committee's recommendations Tuesday, the national committee will decide what changes it will ask the convention's own rules committee to send to the floor for action by delegates next week.

The convention opens next Monday, and President Nixon's renomination is assured. He has announced that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will again be his running mate.

The two most controversial proposals before the committee would change the method of allocating convention delegates among the states and give women, young people and blacks more responsibility within the party.

Heavy attacks have been made on both proposals by conservative Republicans who think they are designed to weaken conservative influence in the party and damage Agnew's chances for the 1976 presidential nomination if he should want it.

The basic reform proposals before the Rules Committee were drawn up last year by the Delegates and Organization Committee, a special panel created by the national committee in 1968.

Most of the special panel's recommendations have been accepted informally by party leaders, but those calling for state delegations to be balanced equally between men and women and to include youths under 25 in proportion to their voting strength in each state have been widely denounced as efforts to set quotas.

Prospects for approval of the controversial proposals dimmed almost to the vanishing point last week when a group of reform-minded Republican senators and representatives said they were unable to support them.

The reformers are recommending instead that the party's basic antidiscrimination rule be expanded to include clauses against discrimination on the basis of sex or age and that state parties take positive steps to see that the rule is observed.

Proposals to change the method of allocating delegates to the states have been supported by the Ripon Society, a liberal Republican organization, and by Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois. Both moves would increase the convention strength of the larger, industrial states.

The present allocation system awards six bonus delegates to each state, regardless of size, that went Republican in the previous election. The system was held unconstitutional recently by a federal district court in Washington. That ruling has been appealed by the Republican National Committee.

Simmons is course graduate

Airman Danny P. Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otha P. Simmons of Hope, has graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the U.S. Air Force carpenter course conducted by the Air Training Command.

The airman, who was trained to construct and maintain buildings, and assemble prefabricated structures, is being assigned to Carswell AFB, Tex., for duty with a unit of the Strategic Air Command, America's nuclear deterrent force of long range bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Airman Simmons attended Spring Hill High School. His wife is the former Glenda F. Thompson.

Four killed on highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four persons were killed on Arkansas' highways this past weekend. All were killed in separate accidents.

State Police said Michael T. Smith, 18, of near Hot Springs was killed early Sunday when a car in which he was riding went out of control on Arkansas 5.

Harvey Walker, 78, of near Ozark, was killed Saturday night when his pickup truck ran off U.S. 64 about one mile east of Ozark. Walker was thrown from the truck.

Russell A. Pauls, 21, of Decatur, Ala., was killed Saturday when he lost control of his car on I-40 near Forrest City. His car struck a bridge.

A Logan County woman, Georgia Ann Owens, 63, of Delaware, was killed Friday night when she was struck by a car in front of her house.

Job sharing: New concept in working part-time

By ANN BLACKMAN

BOSTON (AP) — Looking for a compromise between full-time housework and full-time employment?

Thousands of women now stuck at home with kids and dust mops are, and the concept of job sharing may be an answer. Consider these examples:

Marie Maloro, housewife and mother of two, is one of two lawyers sharing one full-time position at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

Barbara Springer of Ardsley, N.Y., housewife and mother of three, is one of two librarians sharing one position at a college library near their home.

Alice MacDonald of Newton Center, Mass., housewife and mother of two, is one of two social workers sharing one case-load in the Massachusetts Public Welfare Department.

All are participants in job sharing—two part-time workers carrying the responsibility of one full-time position. Women's groups are showing enthusiasm for the concept; many potential employers are more guarded in their reaction.

"I feel like a person again," said Ms. Maloro, as she prefers to be called. "When you stay home, the housework becomes dull and monotonous. But when I got into the legal profession again, I now things at home are just as important as those in the office. The days I'm at home, I enjoy it more. I have more perspective now."

Mrs. Springer and Mrs. MacDonald agree. They say they're home in time to have dinner on the table, don't feel as tired during the day and, perhaps more important to them, have an identity of their own.

All three women split fringe benefits such as sick leave and vacation with their partners. All concede that they are not paid the full going rate for the workload they assume, but insist they are willing to take less money in exchange for a flexible time schedule.

Advocates of job sharing say putting two part-time workers in one full-time position can be an economical, efficient means of obtaining a high-quality performance.

"You can get a bigger pay-off from part-time employment than from one full-time person who doesn't work at full capacity," said Felice N. Schwartz.

"You increase your reservoir of people to draw from. There's a higher energy level. Employers must realize that if they're not more flexible with job schedules, they'll have to compromise quality."

Mrs. Schwartz, 47, is founder and president of Catalyst, a nonprofit, New York-based organization devoted to expanding employment opportunities for college-educated family women.

In the past two years, she and Catalyst staffers have approached more than 1,000 large companies and other business organizations, most of which, she said, are interested in exploring the idea of job sharing.

But 10 employment services surveyed by The Associated Press indicated employers are less than enthusiastic.

"It's very very difficult to convince employers this works unless you have the living, breathing pair right in front of them," said Jane Fleming, who shares her job as director of the counseling and information service for Washington Opportunities for Women. In the six years the service has been operating, she said, it has located only six women in shared jobs.

Directors of the Boston Project for Careers said they have talked with 50 employers about job sharing since last September. None has been willing to experiment with the idea.

QUICK QUIZ

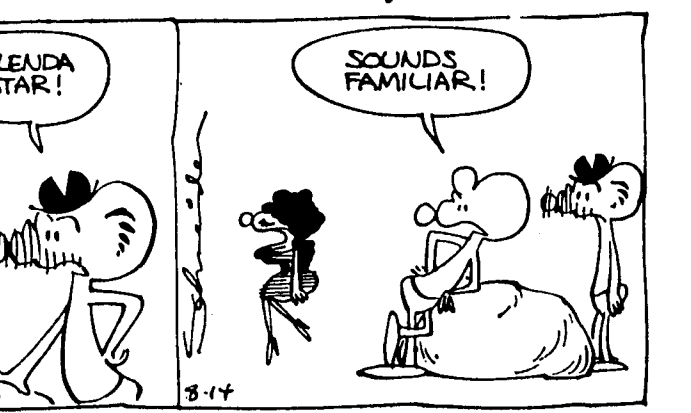

Q—What were the horse latitudes?

A—Areas of calm in the Atlantic which delayed ships carrying horses from England to the West Indies. Many horses died from lack of water.

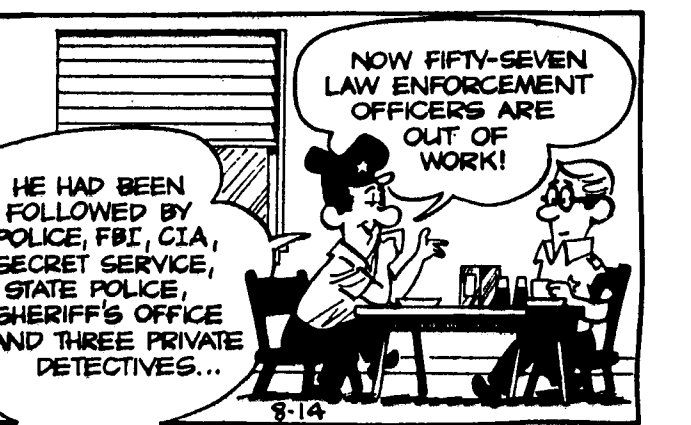

Q—Can sponges stay alive out of water?

A—No. They must have a continuous stream of clean, aerated water passing through their tissues.
